Bob Elliott and Ray Goulding : Bob Ray: A Night Of Two Stars (Two Compact Discs--2 Hours) before purchasing it in order to gauge whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Bob Ray: A Night Of Two Stars (Two Compact Discs--2 Hours):

By Ralph Miller Don't ever eat at a place called Mom's, play poker with a guy named Doc, or sleep with anyone who doesn't know why Bob Ray are funny. This is flat out hilarious. 0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Truly one of the best examples of Bob and Ray material out there. By Fudd From Manhattan Truly one of the best examples of Bob and Ray material out there. This one finds them at the top of their respective games almost forty years into their collaboration. Helps to have an appreciative home crowd at Carnegie Hall that needs only to hear the characters' names to be moved to applause. It was a magical night on W. 57th St. (I was there), and this recording is the next best thing to being in the fifth row. This one gets played at least once a week, even all these years later. Go with this one before you buy the public radio shows that can be a bit formulaic and lack the greatest hits. 4 of 4 people found the following review helpful. Still funny after all these years! By Marcia A. Bacher Bob and Ray were (and are still) incredibly funny. We have had this performance on audio tapes (remember audio tapes?) and literally wore them out! So, for my husband's birthday, I ordered "the replacement". Now we are good to go, and long as the technology holds out!

Bob Ray's farewell performance at Carnegie Hall. Featuring their classic, most popular routines, including The Slow Talkers of America * The Komodo Dragon * Wally Ballou and the Cranberry Man in Times Square * The McBeeBee

Twins * Wally Ballou at the Paper Clip Factory * Soap Opera Reminiscence including Mary Backstayge, Noble Wife
* Garish Summit and The Secret Heart of Sayville, and Mr. Trace, Keener Than Most Persons. 2 hours on 2 CDs.

About the AuthorBob [Elliott] Ray [Goulding], legendary American humorists, are loved by fans and by fellow humorists, comedians and broadcasters. Bob Ray's 40-year career began at WHDH, Boston. Bob was a disc jockey, and Ray a newscaster. When the Red Sox games were delayed on account of rain, they began to amuse each other to fill the time. Soon they had a daily show of their own, "Matinee with Bob Ray," an improvised, madcap exercise in controlled chaos. Over their long career, they created more than a hundred characters, all played by Bob or Ray: Ace reporter Wally Ballou, winner of 17 awards for diction; Mary McGoon, whose recipe for frozen ginger ale salad prefigures Martha Stewart; Biff Burns in the sports room; Webley Webster; Barry Campbell, a third rate actor with an ego the size of the universe; Mary Backstayge, Noble Wife whose pals travel the world in search of goofy adventure. Their humor is subtle, dry, intelligent and clean but never treacly. Bob Ray have a keen ear for language, how it is used and misused by the con artists, hucksters and hustlers who populate radio and television, even today. Their humor is timeless. Bob Ray's satire of soap operas, game shows, radio shrinks and other self-appointed "experts," and commercials, is as pertinent today as it was in 1946 when they began. They belong in the pantheon of American humor, alongside Mark Twain, George Ade, Will Rogers, S. J. Pearlman, Kurt Vonnegut and Garrison Keillor. In 1951 NBC brought them to New York for a daily 15-minute television program, and network radio shows including, Monitor. Over the next thirty years they appeared on every major network, and on three powerful New York radio stations. They finished their radio career on public radio with the "The Bob Ray Public Radio Show" (1982-2004), and two sold-out, farewell appearances at Carnegie Hall (1984). All of these performances have been preserved on CDs from Bobandray.com. Bob Ray have won three Peabody Awards and three Grammy nominations, as well as many other prestigious honors.
