... a fresh, compelling, essential work of film theory. Recommended for all libraries." Choice [Jean Mitry] is the Aristotle of film." R.D. MacCann This text marks a watershed in film theory. Mitry sums up the first fifty years of theoretical writings on the cinema..." Richard Abel The rediscovery of Mitry could change the parameters of film teaching, breaking down the boundaries between the real and the formal, forcing us to see how they are inexorably fused together." Leo Charney Christian Metz wrote that with this work, an entire era of film literature ends. Perhaps because it was so imposing, people like Metz turned in different directions: semiotics, structuralism, Marxism, psychoanalysis, and so on." Charles Maland The Aesthetics and Psychology of the Cinema supplies the missing link between the classical film theorists like Balazs and Munsterberg and the film semioticians like Metz. Mitry is the apotheosis and grand summation of the psychological and formalist views of film.

From the Back Cover The Aesthetics and Psychology of the Cinema supplies the missing link between classical film theorists such as Balazs and Munsterberg and film semioticians such as Metz. Mitry is the apotheosis and grand summation of the psychological and formalist views of film. This one-volume condensation of the classic Esthétique et psychologie du cinéma concentrates purely on film matter. Mitry discusses such topics as the film image, rhythm and montage, rhythm and moving shots, and time and space of the drama.
