Alan J Whiticker : The Classics: The Greatest Films of the 20th Century before purchasing it in order to gauge whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised The Classics: The Greatest Films of the 20th Century:

The Classics is a panorama of films spanning most of the 20th Century. Showcasing the great stars and directors of each era, Retro Film features more than 400 films, and more than 400 images, in its pages. With essential information and important background facts, Retro Film has all the great films, the stars and the directors for every decade up to the early 1980s. Over 25 specially chosen films are featured by the author, with all the major Academy Award winning films listed. A beautifully presented book, The Classics makes a great addition to the collection of anyone with an interest in the arts and pop culture.

About the Author Since 1986 Alan has pursued the dual roles of teacher and freelance writer. In 1997 he completed his Masters Degree in Education. Alan is a former teacher and university lecturer and the author of 40 books including British Pop Invasion (2014), The Way We Were (2013), A History of Rugby League Clubs (2004, 2007, 2011), Wanda: The Untold Story of the Wanda Beach Murders and his first childrens book The Battle for Troy An Adaptation of Homers Iliad (2004). Alan J. Whiticker lives with his wife, Karen, and children, Timothy and Melanie.
