I'm quite happy with the results. There were over 1,000 dots on this particular puzzle so it took quite a while. Some of the pictures have less dots. Like the kitten has just over 400. And luckily I read the instructions in the front of the book first. This book does require you to pick up your pencil and start at a new spot occasionally. Which was honestly, the most complicated part, because I had to find the next number which wasn't always right next to my last number. You start at a star and count in order until you reach a circle. Then you pick up your pen and start at a new star. The numbers are sequential but I often have trouble finding the next star in order after finishing at a dot. They're not always right next to each other. I actually gave up, and just decided to start on random stars. It's way faster to just pick the first star you see and go in order until you run into a dot. Then pick a new star to start on. And keep going until your picture is finished. I love how detailed the pictures are. And I'm having so much fun working them! Though, this is definitely a book for adults and not for kids. My 7yr old also loves dot-to-dot books but this one was too complicated for her to do without assistance. She did enjoy trying though, and we got lots of counting practice in since there are so many numbers on each page. What I'll probably end up doing is working all the dot puzzles, because they're so much fun, and then let the kids color them all in for me. Kind of like creating my own coloring book for the kids. I'm really enjoying this book, and enjoying spending some of my spare time working the puzzles. I received this product discounted for purposes of my review. All opinions are my own. 1 of 1 people found the following review helpful. Love this dot to dot book By Angela H. Love this dot to dot book, it's very challenging. Each picture is very different, they have well over 100 dots per picture. The numbers are easy to see and follow on the pages and when each picture is complete you can clearly see what it is supposed to be. My nine year old is able to do these puzzles with me, we enjoy them on our camping trips or family game nights. 1 of 1 people found the following review helpful. Our boys have already completed a couple of the pages and have had a lot of fun doing them By Nicole P. We received this on Sunday. Our boys have already completed a couple of the pages and have had a lot of fun doing them. Our 9 year old is a particular fan. You can't tell what the pictures are before starting them so it makes it fun and a challenge. There is quite a lot of speculation on what it might be as you're working through it. If you want to spoil it, they did include pictures of what the finished puzzles should look like in the back. It's tempting for the adults around as well. Whenever the boys show it to an adult they say they wouldn't mind giving one a go. Will this be the next thing to replace adult coloring books? Maybe. :) This is a perfect activity for when you need the kids to be quietly entertained but you don't necessarily want to plug them into something electronic.
